DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claim 66 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Low et al., (hereinafter Low), WO 93/08540 (reference provided with applicant's IDS).

With respect to claim 66 Low a method for remotely generating control signals for a computer-generated environment represented graphically on a display means, wherein remote input means 10 (FIG. 1) includes a touch sensing surface (20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30) orientation sensing means 42; and signal transmitting means 16 for transmitting input data to the computer-generated environment, the method comprising the steps of generating location data representing the location of the touch event on the touch sensing surface (see claim 1); generating orientation data representing orientation of the remote means 10 (claim 2); and combining both data to generate touch event signals for the computer-generated environment that are independent of the orientation of the remote means (page 4, lines 18-31).

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 57-65 and 67-76 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: none of the references, either singularly or in combination, teach or fairly suggest the modification of or combination with the cited prior art so as to satisfy the combination of limitations of independent claims 57 and 67; none of the references teach or suggest a touch -operable input device and a method of using the same including generating random sound at the location of contact between a moving fingertip and a surface across which it is moving by a process of continuing frictional interaction between the surface and the moving fingertip, conducting sound waves from the location of the interaction to at least one microphone via sound conducting material, analyzing signals from the at least one microphone, and processing result of the analysis to identify the location of contact.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 66 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2674
